THE #F4US CHAMPIONSHIP SHORT STORY

Launched in 2014, FIA Formula 4 was created to offer young race car drivers around the world the opportunity to take the first step from karting into the world of open-wheel racing.

Designed to be globally recognized yet an affordable step between karting and F3, the F4 car was designed to keep costs down while providing an ideal learning tool for young drivers who have never raced cars before. The series offers more value and benefits than any other form of entry-level open-wheel racing at a low cost.

In 2015, SCCA Pro Racing and the FIA combined forces to create the Formula 4 United States Championship. F4 teams and drivers are aligned with the FIA and series partners: Honda, Honda Performance Development, Pirelli and Onroak Automotive. Stepping into the F4 series builds upon the progression offered from karting both on and off the track. The series offers developmental educational programs that cover everything from driving preparation to marketing and public relations.

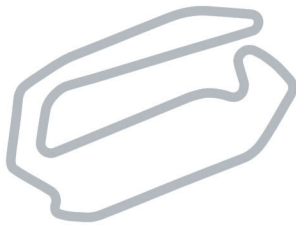

The inaugural season included five event weekends with 15 races. A total of 19 drivers and nine teams competed over the course of the season. The field for season two doubled in size with 33 cars participating in the 2017 season opener at Homestead-Miami Speedway. The growth in the F4 U.S. Championship is exceeding the expectations of its partners and participants, and is considering series expansion both on the West Coast and for the next level of competition.

The F4 series is the fastest way for an aspiring driver to gain experience to an international racing platform. With driving training, unmatched affordability and strong manufacturer support, competitors can grow and succeed into the higher levels of motorsports.

INAUGURAL CHAMPIONSHIP

From making its public debut at the 100th running of the Indianapolis 500 to awarding more than $77,000 in cash prizes, the F4 U.S. Championship experienced several milestones during its inaugural season.

In 2016, the series grew from 14 competitors during its global racing inauguration at Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course in July to entering a total of 19 different drivers over the course of the season. Cameron Das of Baltimore was crowned the first F4 U.S. season champion with Konrad Czaczyk and Kyle Kirkwood both of Jupiter, Florida, also earning spots on the championship podium. The trio would combine for 28 podium visits, 18 fast times and 14 of the 15 pole position starts. JDX Racing claimed the first F4 U.S. team championship.

Czaczyk and Kirkwood were finalists for the Team USA Scholarship. Kirkwood received the prestigious award and represented the United States in the Formula Ford Festival in Brands Hatch, England, and had the opportunity to race for the Walter Hayes Trophy at Silverstone.

Inaugural F4 U.S. champion Das was honored on the same stage as Formula One World Championship champion Nico Rosberg during the FIA Prize Giving Ceremony at the Hofburg Imperial Palace in Vienna, Austria. Das signed with BRDC British F3 to team Carlin for 2017.

2017 COMPETITORS

The F4 U.S. Championship requires a driver to be a minimum of 15-years-old to compete for the championship; there is no maximum age. Drivers can compete the entire season for the championship, however, single event entries are allowed.

BRIDGING THE GAP

The F4 U.S. Championship is accessible at every level, from drivers graduating from karts, teams stepping up to Pro competition or fans attending a race weekend. This is possible by our series partners who are dedicated to the growth in open-wheel racing. This commitment has created an attainable, very affordable entry level into professional motorsports. With all F4 U.S. Championship cars designed and assembled in North America, parts availability and quality are assured. OnRoak Automotive assembles the chassis at their facility in North Carolina and the Honda engines are produced at Honda's factory in Ohio. The F4 Pirelli tires are the same Pirelli tires used in other F4 series around the globe. The F4 U.S. Championship has transformed the landscape of racing and will continue to increase accessibility to open-wheel racing.

Pirelli PZero racing radial tires- competitors have a maximum allotment of 8 tires (four front, four rear) per race weekend.

Honda Performance Development's Honda K20 C1 2.0-liter engine was specially designed for the F4 U.S. Championship and is affordably leased on a yearly basis.

All cars are outfitted in double adjustable open-wheel JRi Shocks.

Onroak Automotive manufactured chassis meets stringent FIA safety standards and includes paddle shifters, data acquisition and camera.

The Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) has partnered with the Federation Internationale de l'Automobile (FIA) to create the Formula 4 United States Championship. The FIA is a global organization that aims to safeguard the rights and promote the interests of motorists and motorsports across the world. The FIA developed F4 in 2014 and has since flourished with 12 F4 FIA-approved series around the world.

SCCA Pro Racing is the sanctioning body behind F4 U.S. SCCA Pro Racing is a division of Sports Car Club of America, Inc. -- a 65,000-member organization dedicated to motorsports. SCCA Pro Racing provides full-service organization, operation and sanctioning for numerous professional racing series such as Trans-Am and Formula E.

"F4 U.S. CHAMPIONSHIP TODAY"
